

FAQ : Extended Trading Hours

The Stock Exchange of Thailand Group

What is the trading hours for Night Session?

Night Session will begin with pre-open period from 19:15 hrs – 19:30 hrs and then trading period from 19:30 hrs – 22:30 hrs. All time are Bangkok time (GMT-7)

What instruments can be traded during the Night Session?

Currently only gold and silver futures are allowed to trade during night session. Please visit our website the latest information.

What are the different types of market access available during Night Session?

All channels are available during the Night Session.

Do all members offer trading during Night Session?

No, currently only 33 out of 42 members have Night Session. You are encourage to check with your respective members to see if they provide such service. Not all members offer trading during night session.

What is the price limit of Gold and Silver Futures during the Night Session?

The daily price limit during the night session (Day T) will be calculated from the settlement price of the afternoon session (Day T).

Is block trading allowed during Night Session?

No, block trading is currently not allowed during night session.

What is the settlement procedure for transaction made during the Night Session?

Transaction made during the night session of day T will be settled with trades made during the morning and afternoon session of day T+1. For example, trades made during the night session of June 22 will be settled with trades made during the morning and afternoon session of June 23.

When would “Day Order” expire after it has been enter into the system?

Day Order entered into the system during the morning or afternoon session (Day T) that has not been matched during the morning and afternoon session and is still below the price limit will remain in the system until the end of night session (Day T).

What is the margin requirement for Night Session?

Margin requirement for Night Session is the same as Morning and Afternoon Session.

(July 2011)

For more information : +66 2229 2222

WWW.TFEX.CO.TH